

Tony Balliro

Tony Balliro is the Director of Supply Chain Management for two operating divisions at CR Bard, a global developer, manufacturer and distributor of less-invasive medical devices. He has spent the majority of his career in medical device supply chain management. He is currently responsible for directing all aspects of Supply Chain Management, including Sales & Operations Planning, Demand Forecasting, Supply Planning, New Product Launch, Inventory Management, and overall Supply Chain oversight to meet or exceed customer service or financial targets.

Title:	Executive Vice President
Company:	NFI Industries
Email:	