

Scott Murphy is Senior Vice President, Chief Supply Officer, Scott Murphy joined Dunkin' Brands in March 2004 and has served as Vice President, Global Supply Chain for Dunkin' Donuts. In February 2013, Scott was named Senior Vice President and Chief Supply Officer for Dunkin' Brands. In this role, Scott is responsible for driving franchisee profitability in the U.S. and internationally through an efficient global supply chain for both Dunkin' Donuts and Baskin-Robbins. Prior to joining Dunkin' Brands, Scott served in growing leadership roles with A.T. Kearney, Inc., a management consulting firm, for over nine years. Scott worked to identify and implement operational opportunities within the supply chain for the firm's largest clients. Scott received his BS from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., and his MBA from the MIT Sloan School of Management in Cambridge, Mass.